Willard Telephone Company has been very careful not to give any customer information out. We are currently taking precautions in following all rules. We still implement the password process when receiving a call about information on customer or from the customers themselves. We send these forms out on a yearly basis for update information we also require that if the customer wants anyone else authorized on their account they are to do so on the form. Our company is very small but with the high identity theft we make sure that we know who we are speaking to.

We have not received any complaints as to date, and hope that we met your requirements.

Respectfully,
